

Scorpionweed, a member of the Waterleaf Family, gets its name from its curling flowerhead resembling a scorpion's tail.

Scorpionweed

provides protection in situations of danger or attack

The Scorpionweed essence instills one with the confidence and stealth needed to maintain readiness and protection in situations of danger or attack.

The essence can aid one's sense of timing, helping one to navigate the situation using one's sense of awareness, accuracy and intuitive alertness to monitor another's motives and activity while advancing one's own position to react with appropriate defense and protection.

This essence promotes the internal readiness and protective preparation needed to deal with impassioned, fiery circumstances with both vigilant watch and the realistic down-to-Earth action needed to maintain safety and personal stamina.
