

Fireweed

brings its healing essence to those who are feeling stressed or burned out from life trials & emotional challenges

North of Lake Superior, the Ontario town of White Lake is surrounded by the endless blue of the region's pristine, clear cold lakes, contrasted by the deep green jack pine forests in various stages of growth.
Forest fires have burned out vast areas of this country as part of Nature's healthy evolutionary cycle.
It is here the Fireweed blooms abundantly, restoring the forest floor in its radiant magenta color, providing the rejuvenating energy required for restoration and new beginnings.
The Fireweed that grows in this area brings its healing essence to those who are feeling stressed and burnt out from life trials and emotional challenges.

The Fireweed essence is the rehabilitating balm that encourages the energetic network of the emotional body to heal after the fire energy of arguments or radical change such as a divorce or misfortune..... an embrocation for the physical burnout that can be experienced from overwork.
The Fireweed essence, like an herbal healing salve, can gift one with emotional nutrients needed to replenish energy while supporting new growth, releasing the traumatic fire template from one's energy field.
Ultimately,
the Fireweed essence has the potential to help one to change life patterns that keep one caught in cycles of crash and burn, helping to teach one to use one's fire forces more conservatively and appropriately.
